7:45 AM – 8:15 AM Presentation 1

Development and implementation of a TOLAC bundle: A multi-site SOON Quality Improvement Initiative

Dr. Eliane Shore is a member of the Division of Gynaecologic Surgery and Pelvic Medicine at St. Michael's Hospital. She completed a fellowship in minimally invasive surgery at St Michael's Hospital and a Master's of Science at the University of Toronto with a focus on surgical education and simulation. Dr. Shore's research interests include surgical simulation, surgical education, resident selection, and clinical gynecology.

Dr. Amanda Cipolla completed her undergraduate degree at Western University and undergraduate medical degree at the University of Toronto in 2010. She remained in Toronto for her residency training, graduating in 2015. She then joined the Department as a generalist ObGyn at Trillium Health Partners- Credit Valley site. She has an interest in quality improvement and has completed the c-QULPS certificate course.

Dr. Elizabeth Miazga is a fourth year Obstetrics and Gynecology resident at the University of Toronto. She previously completed her undergraduate degree at McGill University and undergraduate medical training at the University of Toronto. She has an interest in quality improvement and healthy policy and is planning to complete further training in these areas upon completion of her residency program.

Educational Objectives:

1. Discuss the rationale of audit and feedback interventions
2. Overview of the TOLAC bundle and development
3. Describe the implementation of the TOLAC bundle to date

Obstetrics & Gynaecology
UNIVERSITY OF TORONTO

8:15 AM – 8:45 AM Presentation 2

Can We Make Women Push?

(MPH) at the Harvard School of Public Health (2010).

Dr. Jessica Dy (pronounced Dee), MD MPH FRCSC is the Division Head of General Obstetrics and Gynecology and is an Associate Professor at the University of Ottawa. She received her BSc in Honours Physiology from UBC (1995) and her medical degree from the University of Western Ontario (1999). She completed residency training in Obstetrics and Gynecology at the University of Ottawa in 2004. She pursued further training in Quantitative Research and Epidemiology and obtained her Master's Degree in Public Health

As Vice Chair of Quality and Patient Safety of the Department of Obstetrics, Gynecology and Newborn Care (2010 - 2018), Dr. Dy led many quality improvement initiatives in labour management, induction of labour, and Cesarean and VBAC practices. She was the principal investigator of a multi-center randomized labour trial on the use of oxytocin in nulliparous women in labour. She co-authored the SOGC Clinical Practice Guidelines on Induction of Labour, Management of Labour, and the soon to be published updated VBAC Guideline (with Dr. Jon Barrett).

While maintaining an active academic practice in general obstetrics and gynecology in Ottawa, she is also housewife to an emergency physician and proud mother of 3 very energetic daughters (ages 10, 13, 16).

Educational Objectives:

1. Share local initiative to improve TOLAC and VBAC rates
2. Improve collaboration between prenatal and intrapartum health care providers
3. Exchange ideas on how we can enhance care for women planning a birth after a prior CS
